Alex. H. WashburnWhether to Roll or Not to Roll
Mailed Paper

Editor The Star: Today's column ("Mail Label," Aug. 17) gave rise to this letter on a question about which I've been wondering for some time.

I have occasion to see regularly some 15 or 20 dailies and weeklies from various Arkansas towns and cities. Of these only The Star and the Blytheville Courier News arrive rolled. Doubtless there are other papers in the state which are mailed in wrappers, but these are the ones I see.

It might be interesting to note how many of the exchanges you receive are rolled as compared with the number mailed flat.

It's evident to any Star reader you don't mind being a minority of one if you believe you're right. But if it is good business for many papers to mail flat why is it good business for The Star to furnish wrappers and labor to mail rolled?

From the customer's standpoint the papers mailed flat are usually received in as good condition as the ones mailed in wrappers—better, in those cases where the wrapper is accidentally glued to the front page. And the flat ones are a lot easier to read after they get here.

This is not a complaint, and I certainly don't expect a personal reply. It's just something I've wondered about. Should you discuss it in O.D.B. I'd prefer that you not mention my name.

In the areas in which I am interested—local growth factors, industrial and commercial growth, new jobs, new housing, etc.—The Star coverage is quite satisfactory. Yours truly,

J. E. STOVER

We've used his name because he's brought up an interesting point in newspaper production and deserves recognition.

Our exchanges show a landslide preference for mailing newspapers rolled rather than flat—18 to 3. Here is the score:

Papers mailed rolled—
Dailies: Arkadelphia Siftings Herald, Arkansas Democrat, Stuttgart Daily Leader, Conway Log Cabin Democrat, West Point (Miss.) Times Leader, Hot Springs Sentinel-Record, Hot Springs New Era, Camden News, DeQueen Daily Citizen, Malvern Daily Record, Batesville Guard, Pine Bluff Commercial, Forrest City Times-Herald, and Jonesboro Sun.
Weeklies: Nevada County Picayune and Nevada News, both of Prescott; Gurdon Times, and Arkadelphia Southern Standard.
Total rolled: 18
Papers mailed flat—
Benton Courier and Baxter Bulletin of Mountain Home, both weeklies; and the Nashville News, semi-weekly.
Total mailed flat: 3

This editor agrees that opening a newspaper mailed flat is preferable to alighting the wrapper of one that has been mailed rolled. But if the paper has to travel a considerable distance in the mail it seems reasonable to suppose that it is better protected inside a wrapper.

This is a first cousin of the argument over canned food versus frozen food. Frozen food is more flavorful, and cans have the disadvantage of being a nuisance to open. But canned food doesn't require the presence of a freezer—therefore the can is king on picnics and camping trips.

Suit, cross suit is filed here

A suit requesting $71,500 in damages and a cross action law suit $71,000 in damages were filed this week in the Hempstead County Circuit Court.

Curtis Pharr of Blevins, superintendent of Blevins School, Tuesday filed the $71,500 suit against Weldon Fulton and his son-in-law Larry Hugg, both of Blevins. The suit is a result of an incident which took place on Tuesday, Aug. 15, in which Fulton and Hugg were charged with assault and battery following the alleged beating of Pharr at a school bus drivers' meeting.

Pharr was admitted to the Hempstead County Hospital that night with multiple contusions and lacerations around the face, according to a hospital spokesman.

Fulton and Hugg were arrested, charged and released on $500 bond.

In the official complaint, filed by Gene Harrelson of the Texarkana firm of Tackett, Moore, Dowd & Harrelson, Pharr requests $20,000 for general damages, $50,000 for punitive damages and $1,500 for medical expenses.

Fulton, through his attorney, James Pilkinton of Hope, filed the cross action suit Thursday, requesting like amounts for general and punitive damages, but requesting $1,800 for medical expenses.

Pharr's complaint contends that the defendants "did willfully, maliciously and wrongfully assault the Plaintiff by beating and kicking him about the body and face and said willful, malicious, wanton and wrongful acts of the Defendants resulted in grave personal injuries to the Plaintiff."

"That as a direct and proximate result of the aforesaid acts of the Defendants, Plaintiff suffered injuries to his ribs, hand, face, knee, neck and teeth."

The complaint further stated that Pharr has incurred medical expenses totaling $350 and will continue to incur expense in the future due to his injuries.

In the cross action suit, Fulton denied Pharr's accusations and charged that Pharr "did willfully, maliciously and wrongfully assault the said Weldon Fulton by fighting him and by spraying mace or other chemical substance in the face and eyes of the said Weldon Fulton..." The complaint also stated that Fulton suffered injuries to his "eyes, face, neck and other parts of his body."

Pilkinton told The Star today that he planned to file a separate answer for Hugg in the near future.

Re-election in 1974
is goal of Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday he would seek re-election in 1974.

Asked about rumors that Gov. Dale Bumpers might be interested in running for his Senate position, Fulbright said, "It's a free country."

Elaborating on his intentions, Fulbright said: "After all, I'm nine years younger than our senior senator (John L. McClellan). I haven't even thought about not seeking it. Nobody had ever suggested that I not run again. It hadn't occurred to me that people were asking if I planned to seek another term. Certainly I do."

Fulbright also said the Democratic party's national ticket, in terms of the nation's needs, is composed of "very appropriate people."

He said he would serve during the coming campaign on an advisory committee to Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, the party's presidential nominee.

Fulbright said of McGovern and his running mate, Sargent Shriver: "Both of them are good men, honest men and they tell the truth, and I think for what we need in this country today they are very appropriate people."

"I think someone to bring us back to normal, fundamental conditions is very good, and I think McGovern and Shriver have this in mind."

Nixon wants term
to pursue peace

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Predicting he will win the November election "twice as big" as in 1968, President Nixon says he wants four more White House years to pursue what he terms a "breakthrough for peace" in dealings with Peking and Moscow. Nixon spanned the continent Thursday — just hours after accepting renomination by the Republican party at Miami Beach. It quickly became apparent that the convention chant of "Four More Years" will be the official litany if not the announced slogan of his drive to defeat his Democratic opponent, Sen. George McGovern.

Arriving at the Western White House here after dark, Nixon told several thousand devoted well-wishers from Southern California communities where he has lived or studied:

"Why do we want four more years? So we can continue to make this breakthrough for peace. I think I have learned now to negotiate. I think I know what we want and what they want. I think I know what steps can be taken. I know that we have to be strong, and yet I know that we have to negotiate."

Before helicoptering to his seaside villa, he recalled to a jubilant throng in San Diego that after his nomination four years ago he had immediately gone to San Diego from Miami Beach.

"This crowd is twice as large as we had in 1968 and we're going to win twice as big in 1972," he declared.

The crowd began chanting, "Four more years! Four more years!"

Nixon, who had spoken earlier in Chicago and in a Detroit suburb, lost no time in directly challenging McGovern on two key campaign issues: defense and busing policies.

Before the American Legion in Chicago, he didn't mention McGovern by name but said if his opponent's defense economies were carried out the United States would be a second-rate power and peace would be imperiled.

In a statement issued upon arrival in Michigan, he called anew for antibusing legislation and accused the Democratic-controlled Congress of failing to act on the matter.

work on the 252-mile flood control and drainage project. Alexander was willing to allow the channelization to begin first, with the mitigation land acquisition to follow, causing him criticism among environmentalists.

Alexander said he had insisted on the mitigation aspects of the project since he had been in Congress. But he said that to delay the work could jeopardize the entire program. In addition, he said, it would be "fiscally imprudent" to stop construction at this time on the first 6.7-mile segment.

"It would cost the taxpayers an additional $650,000, which could be used for other things, including possible expansion of the project," Alexander said.

The plan for acquiring the mitigation land is being studied by the Office of Management and Budget and Alexander, along with Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has expressed hope that congressional action can be taken by September. Alexander said he had no doubt that the lands would be purchased.

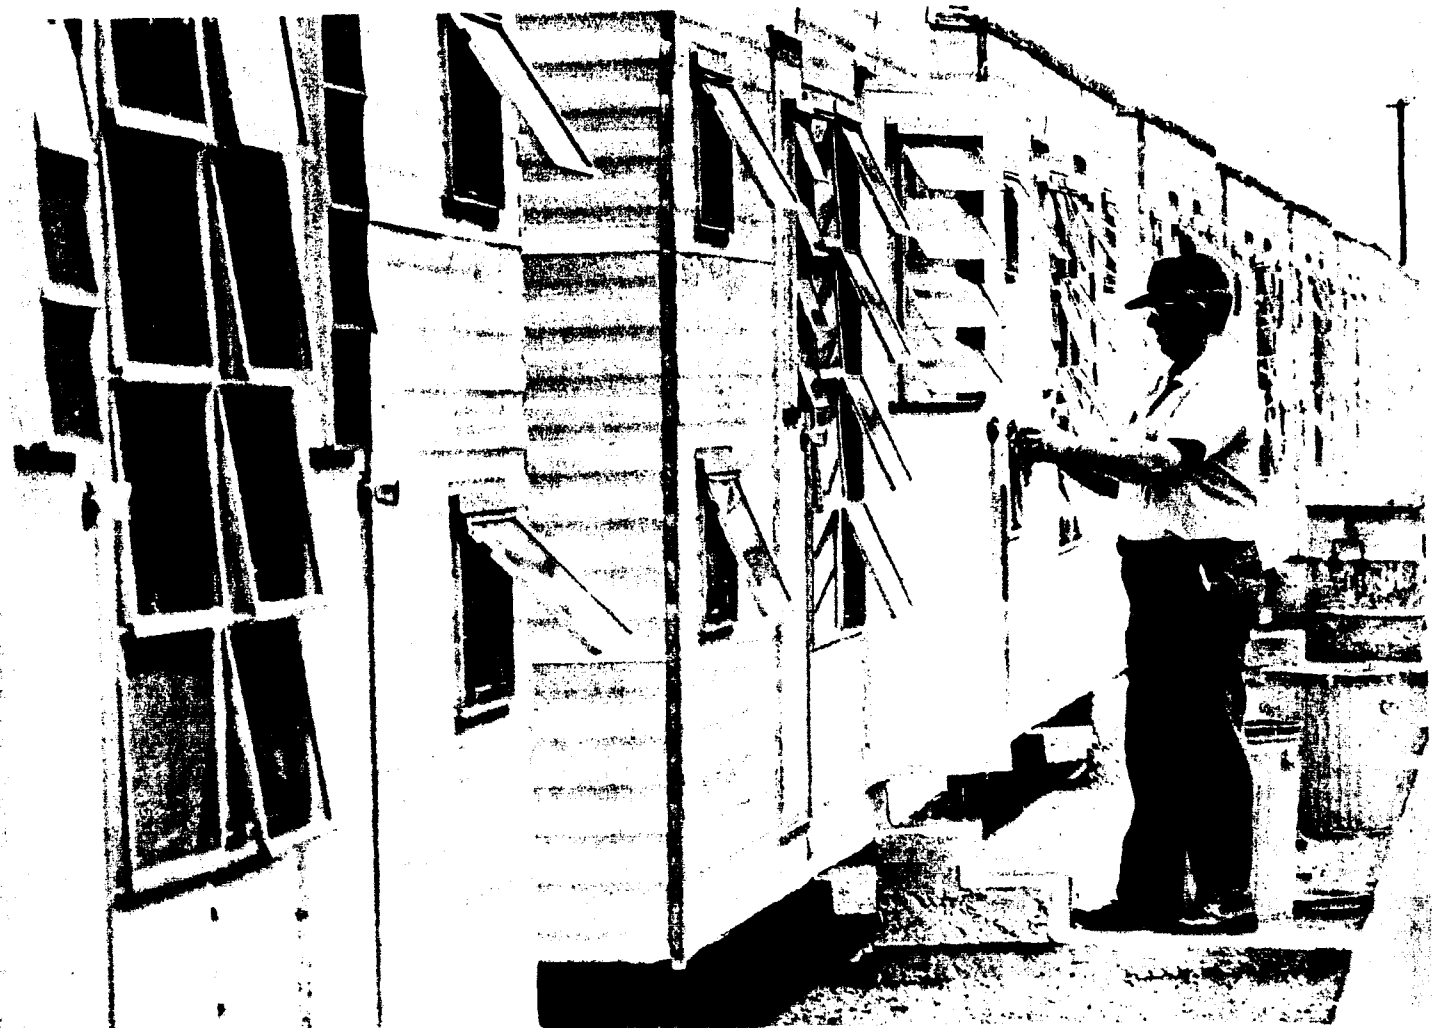

He said the congressional phase of the project had gone according to schedule.

Shocking experience

The incident happened just like lightning—literally. Mrs. Odell Parish, a resident of the Shover Springs-Patmos cut-off road, was helping her husband get their cows sheltered during the electrical storm Tuesday, when lightning struck a wire fence she was near.

Mrs. Parish was knocked to the ground by the jolt, and received a burned left arm; her husband rushed her to Hempstead County Memorial Hospital, where she was treated and released. Her arm remained numb for a few hours.

Lucky? You might say that. Two of the Parish's cows were killed by the lightning.

CHECKING THE TRAILERS—Harold Hensz, interviewer-in-charge of the Migrant Farm Labor Center located here, checks one of the 20 trailers that are used for sleeping quarters by workers traveling through the area.

Migrant center:

'A home away from home'

By GEORGE SMITH
Star Managing Editor

The soft-spoken bear of a man leaned back in his chair in the spacious office, pulled aside the pale curtain and glanced out of the window at a truck pulling into the parking lot.

He sighed. "Here comes another load. They are always happy to get here because they know they are welcome, and that this is sort of a home away from home."

The "home away from home" is the Migrant Farm Labor Center on State Highway 67 just west of Hope—the only such center in the United States. The speaker is Harold Hensz, interviewer-in-charge at the center.

Originally opened in 1959 with only five car stalls as a rest stop for migrant workers, the center has steadily grown until it now includes 20 mobile trailer units, a first-aid station, an administration office, showers, and two picnic areas. More than 48,000 farm workers registered at the center in 1971, and more than 26,000 have already passed through the center this year.

October is usually the busiest month, with more than 5,000 recorded last year.

Hensz, an employee of the state Employment Security Division, took charge of the center in 1967; his duties include everything from "welcoming newcomers to the center to mowing the yard to general maintenance." He and his wife Shirley and their two-year-old daughter Lara, live in a trailer within the center grounds.

Located on a 2½-acre tract leased from the City of Hope, the center has accommodated more than 400,000 workers during its 13-year history; as many as 1,296 have gone through the camp within a single 12-hour period, Hensz said.

"That kind of a crowd really keeps us hopping," he said.

Hensz, who moved to Hope from the Harlingen, Tex., area, speaks fluent Spanish and easily converses with the migrant workers. "Most of them speak English," he said, "but they feel more comfortable speaking Spanish, so I normally speak Spanish."

The center usually opens the first of March each year and remains open until the middle of December. However, if a group of workers "comes to the gate after we close up for the winter," Hensz

McGovern: On the road Economic structure is 'palace for privileged'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern said today President Nixon had turned the economic structure of the United States into "a palace for the privileged few."

The Democratic presidential candidate, in a statement issued after a four-day, cross-country campaign swing, criticized the speech Nixon gave Wednesday night when he accepted nomination to a second term.

"Mr. Nixon said Wednesday night that since our economic structure has some broken windows, we Democrats want to tear it down and start again," McGovern said.

But, he went on, "we're tired of Richard Nixon turning it into a palace for the privileged few. Rather than tear anything down, we want to join Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson and restore 'that temple to the ancient truths.'"

McGovern planned a working day in his Senate office and a speech to the International Union of Presidents and State Coordinators today before leaving for a quiet weekend with his family on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

The South Dakota senator gave two speeches Thursday in Minneapolis-St. Paul—to the American Federation of Teachers, which received him warmly, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which greeted almost all he said on stony silence.

The AFT, representing some 300,000 teachers, broke a 56-year tradition to endorse McGovern's candidacy and pledged $250,000 to his campaign.

McGovern, with his defeated primary campaign rival Hubert

H. Humphrey at his side, also met with Minnesota's top labor leaders. If he can get their help it could spell the difference in the traditionally Democratic state.

In his statement today, McGovern ridiculed Nixon for borrowing a phrase from McGovern's own campaign theme: "Come Home America."

"To those millions who have been driven out of your home in the Democratic party," Nixon said in his acceptance speech, "We say—come home—not to another party but to the great principles we believe in together."

"It is Richard Nixon who has sent America's greatest principles into exile," McGovern said.

Saratoga gets grant

The Saratoga School District has been awarded a $10,095 federal grant under the emergency school assistance program. The announcement was made by Rep. John P. Hammerschmitt's office in Washington.

The grant will provide funds to preserve staff personnel and program momentum developed during the past 1971-72 school year, and will continue through the first semester of the 1972-73 school year.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Beneath the Republican euphoria of President Nixon's re-election and hoped-for re-election, the party has ended its national convention with conservative forces securely in control.

The party that met here this week ended its sessions with the Ronald Reagans and Barry Goldwaters and John Towers in firm control of its direction, rather than the Nelson Rockefeller and Charles Percys, as before.

In 1968, by contrast, Gov.

Rockefeller remained a powerful figure, and there was talk of Percy or New York Mayor John V. Lindsay taking command if Richard Nixon lost that November's election.

Nixon won, and though he has used his presidency to move the nation's policies far to the left of traditional Republican views on welfare, Communist China and economic controls, he has made no similar impression on his party.

His supporters at work in Miami Beach sided with the party's conservative wing. In the one fight of the convention, over the allocation of delegates for the 1976 GOP gathering, the net of their effort was to strengthen the Southern and Western orientation of the party.

It was easy to picture this issue in terms of a potential fight for the 1976 nomination between Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, favored by the conservatives in the South and West, and Illinois Sen. Percy, the liberal candidate.

But this makes a number of assumptions: Nixon's re-election, Percy's re-election — both considered at this time fairly likely — the absence of other major challengers and any candidate's successful performance in the 23-primary obstacle course of 1976.

Attend Legion meeting

Potluck dinner held by Legon Auxiliary

Leslie Huddleston Post 12 of the American Legion and its Ladies Auxiliary held its regular meeting Monday night in the Douglas Building with a potluck dinner. Twenty-four families were represented.

The meeting was open by Post Commander Vance Marcum. Joe Jones, post chaplain, gave the invocation. Marcum welcomed all in attendance and introduced the guests. Included were Democratic state representative candidate Larry Patterson, and his wife; and former state Sen. F. C. Crow, and his wife. Marcum called upon the president of the Ladies Auxiliary, Mrs. Prudence Jones, who led the group in the pledge to the flag.

Marcum then called on Talbot Feild, Jr., post adjutant, to introduce the speaker. Feild presented state Sen. Olen Hendrix, of Prescott, who discussed the many problems facing the next regular session of the state legislature.

Concluding with the announcement that the last link in Interstate 30 would be opened to traffic on November 10, Hendrix stated there would be a gala celebration with the mayors of Prescott and Hope and the secretaries of the respective Chamber of Commerce walking from each direction and meeting at the Hempstead - Nevada County line.

Marcum announced, before adjournment of the meeting, he had appointed Tom Bartlett, vice-commander, as chairman of the membership drive. The meeting was closed with the benediction given by Jones.

Coming And Going

Misses Sinnie L. Vercina, and Patricia Lindsey, Dorothy R., Karen Dean, and Barbara Raye Cooper left the city Thursday, August 24, at 5:00 p.m. for Little Rock, where they will visit their sisters, Misses Doris E., and Brenda J. Cooper and their aunt Mrs. Gertrude Thomas.

Obituary

Word was received that Terrell Frierson, son of Mrs. Gertrude Frierson and the late John Calvin Frierson, former residents of Patmos and Hope, was killed about 4:00 a.m. on Friday, August 25, 1972, at his home in East Palo Alto, Calif.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mertle Frierson, five children, Mrs. Janet Frierson Ballard, Terrell Frierson, Jr., John Calvin Frierson, Lee E. Frierson, and Vincent Frierson; one grandchild; his mother, all of San Francisco; six brothers, Arthur Clifford Frierson of Chicago, Furtha Frierson of East Palo Alto, California, Lee W. Frierson and Ched L. Frierson of San Francisco, and Rev. B.C. Frierson of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Green of Boston, and Mrs. Annie Wells of San Francisco.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Messages may be sent to the family—Rev. D.B. Frierson—917 LeConte Avenue, San Francisco, California

Bloodmobile to visit next week

Hempstead County has had a continuous supply of Red Cross blood for the past six years, according to Haskell Jones, Red Cross Bloodmobile chairman. This is due, he said, to the county's participation in the Red Cross program.

The Bloodmobile will be in Hope next Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 28-29; headquarters will be in the fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian Church.

Jones said there will be only three visits this year — in August, December and March — to secure the necessary 750 pints which will insure the county's continued participation in the program!

Persons who give blood, Jones said, have the assurance of being able to receive Red Cross blood at out-of-county hospitals for themselves, their spouses, children under 18 and parents over 60.

The Hope Lions Club has pledged 15 pints of blood this visit and has contracted Young American Homes and Kustom Kraft to secure pledges of donors at those industries.

The Junior Auxiliary is scheduling all donors so as to spread them over a six hour period. Mrs. Dale Flowers is in charge of scheduling and she may be reached at phone 2796 if you wish to tell her what day and hour you can give.

Non-industrial employees are asked to come to the Bloodmobile between the hours of 12 noon and 3:30 p.m. Help the county keep a supply of blood on hand at all times, Jones said.

"How many persons does it take to draw that one pint of blood from you when you become a donor?" Jones asked. "Generally about seven persons including typists, LPN's, R N's, and canteen workers. However, when you multiply that for 250 donors, the two day visit set for Aug. 28-29 will require over 100 persons to serve in all positions during the 16 hour period.

There will be only five professionals with the Red Cross Bloodmobile.

Registered nurses come from local hospitals or out of retirement to help out, he said. Red River Vo. Tech. School will provide typists and LPN's, and the B & P Club and Junior Auxiliary will provide typists and other help.

The women of the Farm Bureau and the First Presbyterian Church will serve in the canteen.

A crew this size will be able to handle 20 donors per hour or 120 per day, Jones said.

Guest of honor goes to sleep

HOUSTON (AP) — Three-month-old Christopher Kuykendall of Beaumont was the guest of honor here Thursday night but he slept through it all.

Christopher, allegedly kidnapped by his babysitter a week ago, arrived at Houston International Airport in the arms of an FBI agent.

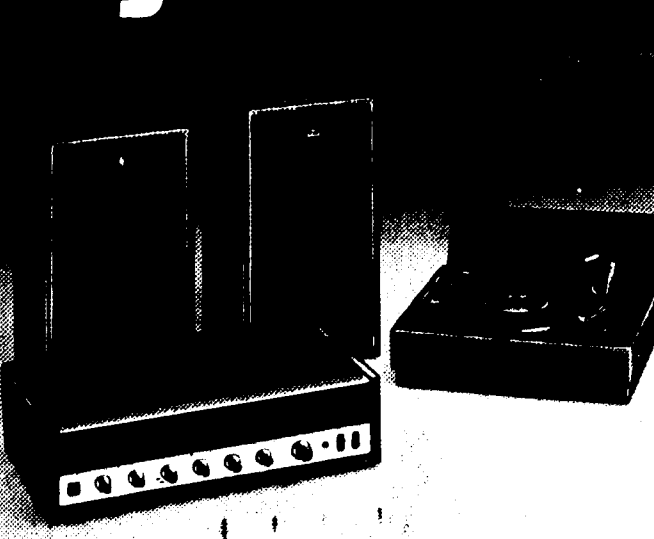

He was met by newsmen and photographers, at least three other FBI agents, a crowd of curious onlookers and his nervous, beaming parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kuykendall.

As the newsmen gathered around and the flashbulbs popped Christopher continued to sleep.

Earlier Thursday, FBI agents picked up Jeannette Marie Bryant, 23, on a kidnapping charge. Agents said she had the baby when arrested at a Salvation Army residence in Little Rock, Ark.

Miss Bryant, originally of Bell Gardens, Calif., was employed by the Kuykendall family as a live-in babysitter Aug. 17, the FBI said.

Look around for fun fabrics

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

If you like to sew for your children, you're probably an expert at searching out fabrics that are inexpensive, sturdy, washable, attractive and easy to sew.

You're probably pretty good, too, at fabric-shopping in other sections of the store—in the household linens department, for instance, where attractive sheets and bedspreads in generous widths are often on sale.

One of our talented readers made her daughters the matching robes shown today, using Springmaid's Knob Hill spread. It is woven in a terrycloth gingham—the white checks have a terrycloth loop, and the colored checks are flat. It's as easy-care as a towel, but not nearly as heavy, and it seemed the ideal material for bath-and-beach robes for two little ladies.

These robes were made of two patterns—one selected for its kimono neckline and the other for its cut-in-one sleeve which required no sleeve-setting. Any robe pattern would do, so long as it doesn't have too much construction. And it's so easy to cut out the robes when the fabric is so wide! Leftover material was used for a table cover, to make an attractive and thoroughly practical coordinated bedroom outfit.

A single spread would make a nice robe for mom, too; and consider the possibilities of kitchen curtains, summer cushion covers and other household articles. The moral? Don't do all your shopping in the fabric section—look at sheets, spreads and even towels with an eye to other uses.

STITCHIN' TIPS

Dear Joanne—I recently made a pretty summer dress with a scoop neck—but the neckline droops and falls away from my chest and throat. What can I do?—R. P.

Dear R. P.—What you should have done was to run a line of stay-stitching around the neckline before you attached the facing. Then you could have tried on the dress, pulled up the stitching till the neckline lay comfortably against your body. If you are full-busted, you are most likely to need this easing. Then fit the facing to the neckline. For now, try to run a line of basting just along the seamline, and see if you can pull in the neckline. If this doesn't work, take off the facing (you may have to cut a new one) and follow the procedure described above. Best.—Joanne

Keep Secrets to Yourself

HELEN BOTTEL

Candidate for Meanest Man

Dear Helen:

I have been sick and unable to work for the last two months. Tim, my husband, resents this. Says I'm "putting on," though I have never complained, and was always strong and healthy before. The doctor says I was "running on nerves" and when I got "mono," and didn't take care of myself, it went into complications. I must have mostly bed rest. Can't go back to my job all next winter, probably.

Tim doesn't hold a steady job long; I used to think it was the fault of his various bosses, but he couldn't ALWAYS be so unlucky. Since I've been sick, he pays no attention to me. I try to keep the house clean. He's gone a lot.

But now he's taken to bringing women home. I hear them whispering, but when he looks into my room, I pretend sleep. And then I hear ice tinkling in glasses, and many other things.

The next morning he's more downgrading than ever, as if he's daring me to challenge him. And of course I don't dare, because I can't be left alone right now. Besides, I keep thinking when I'm well again, he'll change, and I remember that I once loved him very much.

Should I just close my ears and eyes and be miserable, or—WHAT?

Dear What:

NO!
Open your eyes and see what misery lies ahead if "blind hope" keeps you married to this selfish taker.

You'll recover much sooner if you eliminate the big worry in your life, so tell him to shape up fast or you'll call a lawyer.

As for being left alone while you're ill: surely a friend will help out. If not, the Health and Welfare Agency will give you temporary aid.—H.

Dear Helen:
When I went shopping a few days ago, I must have caught a thread in my hem, as it unraveled all the way across the back.

I was unaware of how terrible I looked as I walked around several department stores, into a lunchroom, etc. for several hours.

Helen, not one person had the courtesy to tell me my hem was hanging.

Don't you think women should be kind enough to help out a sister? A little whisper, the loan of a pin, or perhaps a needle and thread, would have saved me from appearing ridiculous.

Why aren't women more thoughtful? —MRS. L.S.

Dear Mrs. S.:
...Perhaps because they never know whether they'll be resented as 'fault-finding busybodies, or appreciated as helpers.

Think now, would YOU walk up to a stranger and say, "Pardon me, Ma'am, but your hem is hanging"? That takes the kind of courage more people should have! —H.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Brickbats for Teacher

Billy's grouchy grandfather took such a violent dislike to the boy's homeroom teacher that he wrote a special letter of denunciation to the board of education.

"This woman is ignorant, lazy, and totally uninterested in her job," he alleged. "She just sits there and collects wages."

As it happened, Billy's teacher was both capable and energetic. When she found out about the letter, she determined to sue the grandfather for defamation of character.

At the trial, he was unable to produce even a shred of evidence to sustain his charges. Result: liability. The court said teachers need not put up with malicious charges that blacken their professional reputation.

Most courts agree. Still, not every mistaken statement about a teacher will support a defamation suit. Like other public employees, a teacher must "take" a reasonable amount of criticism from those who are legitimately concerned with the school system.

In another case, a pupil's mother complained to the school board that a certain teacher was "not competent." But this time, even though the mother's complaint was exaggerated, she did have a substantial amount of supporting evidence.

The teacher sued—but the court ruled against her. The judge said that for the good of public education, some leeway must be allowed to its critics.

Nor is it defamation if the charge does not seriously reflect on the teacher's professional qualifications. Take this case:

A school principal, writing a report about a new teacher, described her as being "careless in writing on the blackboard." Was this statement, if untrue, enough basis for a defamation claim by the teacher?

A court ruled that it was not, because it did not really mean she was incompetent in her job. The court said it was perfectly possible for someone to be very bad at wielding chalk, yet very good at teaching children.

Draw is called in chess match

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — U.S. challenger Bobby Fischer stepped within two points of the world chess championship today when the 18th game against Boris Spassky was drawn after 30 minutes of resumed play.

The draw, worth half a point, left Fischer with 10½ of the 12½ points he needs to become champion.

Spassky, with 7½ points, needs 4½ to retain the title.

The champion, whose sealed 42nd move reopened the game, arrived punctually but was kept waiting 10 minutes by Fischer.

The first four moves were rattled off. Spassky had 42 minutes to make his first 14 moves, against 75 minutes for Fischer. Each player must make 40 moves in 2½ hours and 16 moves in each hour thereafter.

Spassky, who squeezed out of serious trouble in the final stages of play Thursday, moved his queen beside his king, on the queenside, and pushed a rook beside them both.

Fischer edged his queen to cover the rook protecting his king.

The draw was forced after Spassky's 47th move was a third time repetition of position, a deadlock under the rules.

Every week is Super Bowl week for Dallas Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — "Every week is Super Bowl week when you play as champion."

That's the week-by-week obstacle the Dallas Cowboys, champions of the national football league, face this season, and Coach Tom Landry knows it well.

"We have to realize that each team we play will make us prove we're world champions," Landry said.

Landry has perhaps the best material in the NFL to accomplish his goal of a third straight trip to the Super Bowl, but a big question looms: Can the Cowboys get there without both Roger Staubach and Duane Thomas?

Staubach, sidelined with a shoulder separation in the Cowboys' exhibition game with Los Angeles, has vowed to return by late November.

Meanwhile, Craig Morton, who took the club to the Super Bowl in 1970, is in the saddle.

Morton, bothered by arm trouble in the past, says, "I'm throwing as well now as I ever have."

The Cowboys obtained Jack Concannon from Chicago as backup quarterback insurance.

Meanwhile, Landry is keeping a close eye on the other veterans to see if they are showing signs of slowing down. "We'll be watching carefully for that one lost half-step," Landry says. "You never know when age is going to slow a player down."

Landry has young players groomed at almost every position, but it's unlikely they'll see much action.

Pat Toomay looms as a possible replacement for George Andrie at defensive end. Andrie has been bothered by back trouble. Toomay and Andrie split time at the position last year.

The Cowboys are deep at running back, despite the departure of Thomas to San Diego.

Fullback Walt Garrison proved his clutch ability against Miami in the Super Bowl and tough rookie Robert Newhouse and Claxton Welch give depth at the position. Running back belongs to Calvin Hill and Mike Montgomery, obtained from San Diego in the trade for Thomas.

The receivers include Bob Hayes, Ron Sellers, Lance Alworth, and Billy Parks at the wide posts, with Mike Ditka and Billy Truax at tight end shuttling the plays for Landry.

The offensive line of Coach Jim Myers is solid with the return of left tackle Ralph Neely, who suffered a broken leg last season.

Guards Blaine Nye and John Niland are tremendous run blockers and all-pro right tackle Rayfield Wright can handle any defensive end in the league. Dave Manders is a dependable center.

The Doomsday Defense should again give quarterbacks across the league the shakes. All-pro tackle Bob Lilly, tackle Jethro Pugh, end Larry Cole, and the Andrie-Toomay duo don't give a quarterback long to look for that secondary receiver.

Linebackers Chuck Howley, an all-pro, Dave Edwards and Lee Roy Jordan are tested veterans.

White House snub was great disappointment to Owens

MUNICH (AP) — It wasn't only Hitler who snubbed Jesse Owens in 1936 but also the White House, and that's the one that hurt the most, the black Olympic hero said Friday.

"When he returned home on a boat from the Berlin games there was no invitation from President Roosevelt waiting for us," Owens reminisced in one of the tight cubby-hole offices at Olympic Village.

"It wasn't at all as it is today with athletes being treated like kings. It was almost as if no-body cared. Sure, it hurt. It was disappointing," he said.

The man who 36 years ago won four gold medals and gave an individual performance that has become a pinnacle of the Games has returned to Germany as special guest of the German Organizing Committee.

The 56-year-old former Ohio State thunderbolt said the question most asked of him is how it feels to come back to a country where he was snubbed by the Fuehrer and regarded as an inferior breed.

"Hitler was there every day," Owens said. "But I can't say I was ever really conscious of him. For an Olympic competitor, every race is a final if he takes his mind off it, even if it's a qualifying heat, he is likely to blow the whole thing."

"I never got close to him and I don't think our eyes ever met. The broad jump was staged right under his box. He sat there with Goering and Goebbels, all of them very cold fish, but I had my mind on my work."

In the broad jump, Owens recalled, he beat out the German ace, a tall Aryan blond named Lutz Long, an idol of his countrymen.

"As we left the field after the medal ceremony, I raced up and put my arm around his shoulders and he put his arm around my waist. As we walked past each section of the stands, the people stood up and cheered wildly."

Now a grandfather and successful public relations consultant with offices in Chicago and Phoenix, Ariz., Owens harbors no bitterness over the fact that he was never summoned to Hitler's box.

"I understand the IOC told him if he brought up one athlete he had to bring them all," Owens said. "I am not angry. I give the man credit. He was out there every day cheering for his athletes."

"He was like Knute Rockne in the dressing room."

Ark. Tech coaches adopt 'wait and see' policy

RUSSELLVILLE—Arkansas Tech's coaching staff, more reticent at this stage than last fall, has adopted a "let's wait and see" attitude before commenting at length on the status quo in the Wonder Boys' football camp.

Black Hawks want to keep Hull quiet

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks want to keep Bobby Hull from making public statements about their current contractual battle and from lending his name to promotion of the Winnipeg Jets.

Arthur Morse, Black Hawk attorney, asked U.S. District Court Thursday for a temporary restraining order muzzling Hull.

Morse showed the court a newspaper advertisement in which Hull encouraged persons to attend the World Hockey Association Opener in Chicago Oct. 31 between the Jets and the Chicago Cougars.

"We'll know more after Saturday evening's controlled scrimmage," said head coach Don Dempsey with reference to individual battles shaping up over such "skilled positions" as quarterback and split end in Tech's wishbone attack.

In the meantime, two-a-day practice sessions continue unabated. Eighty-seven candidates reported for the initial workout Monday morning. By midweek the list had dwindled to 82.

Dempsey said the squad has been showing "a lot of determination and effort" but expressed concern over what he termed "a lack of consistency, both offensively and defensively."

"We are capable of making the big play but then we're just as likely to turn around and look real ragged."

Wednesday's practice culminated with a brisk scrimmage under the lights at Buell Field. Afterwards, Dempsey and his staff—Don Sevier (offensive line), John Montgomery (defensive secondary) and Ron Tothaker (defensive line)—seemed fairly satisfied with the results.

It is evident the Wonder Boys are again blessed with an abundance of good running backs, led by three returning starters from last year's AIC championship crew—seniors Benny Shepherd and Doug Bice and junior Bill Breedlove. Rick Hampton, an ambitious sophomore from Helena, has established himself as a real contender for the tailback position.

Defensively, the biggest struggle is for the starting roles at linebacker where two let-terms, Larry Cozens and Paul Keller, and a scrappy freshman from Harrison, Craig Harness,

Broyles is disappointed in workout

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks held their first workout in pads Thursday and Coach Frank Broyles was disappointed with the effort.

"It wasn't what I thought it would be," Broyles said. "The fire kind of refused to light."

He said nothing much was accomplished. "The B team won practically every battle," he said. "We'll just have to get better. The defense was just standing around most of the time, and there was no pursuit."

In an experiment, Jim Benton, the starting middle linebacker last year, was being tested at defensive end.

Linebacker Danny Rhodes will be out of action for three or four days with a sprained left ankle. Sophomore defensive back John Moseley is out with a pulled muscle and offensive guard Tom Reed injured his leg during the afternoon practice.

The Razorbacks open their season Sept. 9 against Southern California.

Senior noseguard Perry Goodell, 240-pound NAIA second-team All-American, heads the defensive line which includes two other senior let-terms—end Randy Bittle and 245-pound tackle Albert "Fats" Dickerson.

In Wednesday's scrimmage, Montgomery led off with senior Bruce Duderstadt and junior Kent Bartlett at the halfbacks and sophomore Mark Wilkerson at safety.

Dempsey said his freshman crop of approximately 35 is "a better group than we had anticipated" and indicated all are "capable of playing in the AIC."

The Tech coaches will continue to stress fundamentals, and strive for consistency through "two-a-days," and then will step up the tempo next week with a series of daily scrimmage sessions in preparation for their opener with Emporia State on Sept. 9 at Emporia.

Reds down Expos 6-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Look out, Joe Torre. Your switch from catcher to third baseman may be catching on.

Torre, who blossomed into a full-fledged superstar when he gave up his chest protector and shin guards, may have given Johnny Bench, already a superstar, some ideas. Cincinnati's slugging receiver showed up at third base for the Reds Thursday and tagged his 29th homer of the year in a 6-0 victory over Montreal.

That was the only game played in the National League Thursday. In the American League, Texas split a doubleheader with Milwaukee, winning the first game 4-1 but dropping the nightcap 4-3.

"It's tough to catch every day," said Bench. "The bat gets heavy after awhile. I find it easier if I can play in the field. It's almost like a rest for me."

The rapid development of rookie catcher Bill Plummer has enabled Manager Sparky Anderson to let Bench work elsewhere in the lineup. Mostly, the Cincinnati slugger has been in right field but he switched to third base Thursday and handled two chances including a bunt flawlessly.

The same couldn't be said of the Expos, who committed three errors to make it easy for the Reds and Jack Billingham, who tossed a six-hitter. It was the second straight shutout for the veteran right-hander and evened his season's record at 10-10.

The Rangers scored three unearned runs in the first inning of the opener the last two on a misjudged fly ball which fell for a triple by Tom Grieve.

Frank Howard homered and Elliot Maddox contributed three singles to the Texas attack. Mike Paul and Pete Broberg combined for the six-hitter.

In the nightcap, Dave May clubbed a two-run homer, tying the score for the Brewers and then beat out an infield single in the eighth inning to deliver the winner.

Dalton Jones' bases-loaded double drove in all three Texas runs.

Washington Redskins face quarterback problems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington Redskins Coach George Allen has a quarterback problem—and the other teams in the National Football League are hoping he solves it soon.

Allen's problem is deciding on a starting quarterback—Billy Kilmer or Sonny Jurgensen? Jurgensen is the 15-year veteran, a former NFL passing champ who holds numerous NFL records and ranks as the league's premier lifetime passer.

Kilmer, meanwhile, is the 10-year veteran who came to the Redskins last year and, when Jurgensen suffered a preseason shoulder injury, stepped right in and led the Redskins to a postseason playoff berth.

In order to decide on a starter, Allen has been letting Kilmer work the first half of each of Washington's preseason games, with Jurgensen handling the second half.

And the results have been nothing less than spectacular. Washington has won all three games played thus far, and won them with ease—33-3 over Baltimore, 41-0 over Denver and 34-10 over Philadelphia.

Kilmer has completed 21 of 41 passes for 294 yards and five touchdowns. Jurgensen has hit on 15 of 23 for 245 yards and four TDs.

All of which means the Detroit Lions, Washington's opponents in tonight's nationally televised exhibition game, figure to have their hands full.

In tonight's only other exhibition contest, the Miami Dolphins host the Atlanta Falcons.

In Thursday night's single game, Houston's Dan Pastorini passed for three touchdowns as the Oilers beat St. Louis 33-24.

The Cardinals scored on a one-yard run by Jim Hart, two TD passes by Gary Cuozzo to Art Person and Don Heater and a Jim Bakken field goal. But Pastorini hit Ken Burrough for 28 yards, Dennis Hughes for seven and Rhett Dawson for 12, all for touchdowns. Charlie Joiner and Lloyd Walsh also ran for Houston tallies.

Older second-year quarterback Lynn Dickey dislocated his left hip in the first quarter. There was no immediate word on how long he would be lost to the team.

Five games are scheduled for Saturday. In the only day contest, Buffalo plays Oakland at Berkeley, Calif. In night action, the New York Jets are at Dallas for a nationally televised game, Minnesota is at Cleveland, Pittsburgh meets Baltimore at Tampa, Fla. and San Diego is at New Orleans.

In Sunday's two day games, Denver is at San Francisco and the New York Giants are at New England. Sunday night, it's Los Angeles at Kansas City for a nationally televised game and Chicago against Green Bay at Milwaukee.

In the wind-up to the five-day weekend schedule, Cincinnati plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

San Francisco GIANTS

National League West

PROSPECTUS: The Giants got the Western Division championship last year because they weren't quite bad enough to lose it and the Dodgers weren't quite good enough to win it. It was not the most impressive victory in baseball history. Their only trade—Gaylord Perry for Sam McDowell—should help them at the box office but not in the box scores. Which leaves more or less the same cast of characters, headed by the gracefully aging Willie Mays, the injury-burdened Willie McCovey, the reluctant Juan Marichal and a shaky infield. This does not look like a team that can hold up.

Bobby Bonds

PITCHING—Once Marichal gets going he is still as tough as they come, 18-11 with 2.94 ERA last year. McDowell (13-17 with Cleveland) can still throw hard but may find that his wildness will hurt more in the harder-hitting National League. Giants are really in trouble when it comes to filling out rotation. John Cumberland (9-6) hasn't been tested as regular starter and Ron Bryant (7-10) has been found wanting. Youngsters Don Carrithers (5-3) and Jim Willoughby (14-9 with Phoenix) will get long looks. Bullpen leader is Jerry Johnson (12-9, 18 saves).

INFIELD—McCovey (18 homers, 70 RBIs in 105 games) is still powerful but his knees will get worse before they get better. Mays (18 homers, 61 RBIs), promising young Dave Kingman (.278) should see plenty of action at first. Second baseman Tito Fuentes (.273, 52 RBIs) is adequate at best, while shortstop Chris Speier (.235) will have hard time living up to publicity he got as a rookie. Alan Galloway (.277, 57 RBIs) returns at third.

OUTFIELD—Bobby Bonds (.288, 33 homers, 102 RBIs, 26 stolen bases) is too often overlooked as one of game's best outfielders but after that Giants have troubles. Mays hasn't said his last "Hey" but he can't play every day, either. Ken Henderson (.264) slumped last year to only 65 RBIs and Kingman has defensive problems.

CATCHING—Though Dick Dietz (.252) dropped to 19 homers, 72 RBIs, most teams would like to have him. Russ Gibson (.193) and Fran Healy (.280) are behind him.

Predicted Finish: Fifth in West.

Whites, Reds still fighting

By MICHAEL GROSS
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — The fight between the Whites and Reds of Russia is still going on in Jerusalem.

Both sides maintain churches in the holy city.
The Soviet Ecclesiastical Mission, with about 100 nuns and a few priests, has been based since 1948 in a compound and the Church of St. John the Baptist in a Jewish suburb. One of the nuns, the Soviets say, is 102 years old.

The White Russians—the Russian Orthodox Church in exile—comprise about 150 nuns and priests mostly based in a gold-domed church on the Biblical Mount of Olives.

Now the church split, dating back to the 1917 Russian Revolution, has become an issue in Israel's law courts.
Israel became involved when it captured old Jerusalem in the 1967 Middle East war.

"Don't make waves was the password" said Saul Colbi, director of Christian affairs for Israel's Ministry of Religion.

The White Russians demanded that Israel recognize their claims to holy places in Jewish Jerusalem. These, according to the head of the anti-Soviet Orthodox Church, Archimandrite Anthony Grabbe, "we were forced to turn over to the avowedly atheistic Soviet government mission in 1948."

According to Colbi, the story is different.
"The Whites were staunchly pro-Arab. When they foresaw Israel's imminent takeover of West Jerusalem in 1948, they fled to the Arab sector."

"When the official Soviet mission requested the properties, they were turned over and on Dec. 31, 1948, the first batch of priests arrived from Moscow," Colbi said.

The White Russians have petitioned the government for return of the properties in West Jerusalem.

The government declined the request and shunted it into the courts, where it has remained for the past four years.

The disputed properties include seven churches, half a dozen tracts in Jerusalem and about 10 more pieces of land throughout the country. Together, they are worth a fortune.

MOBILE TV antenna? A self-propelled supermarket cart? The headgear on Art Stanciliff's goat would appear to be a puzzler but actually has a very serious purpose. The artificial antlers are to give advance warning when the goat gets too close to the electrified fence surrounding Stanciliff's El Paso, Tex., pasture.

Hide or seek

God has given each of us certain abilities, certain talents. Perhaps some have received more than others, but no one has been left out. What we do with these is up to us. We can hide them or we can seek to develop them.

Considering the parable of the talents found in Matthew 25:14-30, we discover that the man who hides his abilities often ends up losing them. But the man who seeks to improve himself is often rewarded with all the glories that come with hard work.

What better way to improve the potentials that we have than through education! Learning increases our natural abilities, and the rewards are obvious. What will you do with the abilities that God has given you? Will you hide them or will you seek to expand them?

To Hide or Seek? Which will you do?

Ann Cavello: The Joe Namath of Roller Derby

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — "I love for people to hate me." That's the reason for which Ann Cavello says she has been competing in the Roller Derby for nearly a quarter of a century.

"When I played in San Francisco for a while, I could do no wrong. I was miserable. The more they boo, the more I love it," said Ann, at 43 one of the sport's oldest participants.

"It's a funny thing. The fans love me because I've been around so long, and yet they hate me," she said Thursday.

But Ann draws a line between her professional and her personal life.

"The fans pay their money to boo me in the rink," she said. "But once I'm out of that rink, I'm my own woman again."

Ann is in Tucson touring with the Jolters, a team representing five Midwestern states.

She says she has been a leader on the tour since she started in the Roller Derby at age 18 in 1948. A scout saw her in San Francisco and asked her if she wanted to go to Europe. Her answer was, "Why not?"

"Every event has to have color and showmanship," Ann said. "I started the first day to let people know I was out there. I was a natural leader."

Being noticed for Ann includes spraying her hair green for a match. She thought the gimmick up one St. Patrick's Day, when she said she looked around and "saw too many blondes."

She retired briefly from the tour when she married derby referee Roy Langley, but has been divorced for the past 15 years. She lives near San Francisco with her daughter, who, she complains, she never gets to see.

Travel is the reason for which she says she may quit after she finishes her 25th year.

"I don't like to be on the road now for six months each year. I'm tired of all the traveling, the one night stands, the car rides from place to place. Basketball players think they got it tough, at least they get to fly. Have you ever tried driving across the country? I must drive about 75,000 miles a year."

Ann is bothered by the idea that Roller Derby is a fraud. "Listen, she said, 'I have had my nose broken 12 times, skated with broken ribs and right now have torn cartilage and ligaments in my legs. It's a rough game and it's for real,' she said.

But for Ann Cavello, everything is now coming up roses.

She makes about $35,000 a year, drives a Lincoln Continental and brags she meets all the guys she wants.

"What I'd really like to do is meet Joe Namath. I think it would be nice to meet the Ann Cavello of football. After, all I was there first."

Busing plan held up by appeal

CINCINNATI (AP) — A massive desegregation plan for Detroit area schools will not be implemented when classes open Sept. 6 because of deliberations on an appeal before the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The plan issued June 14 by U.S. District Court Judge Stephen J. Roth of Flint, Mich., involves metropolitan Detroit and 52 suburban school districts.

It would have involved the busing of 40,000 students across district lines this fall.

The appeals court also let stand, pending a decision on the appeal, Judge Roth's order that the State of Michigan purchase 250 buses to implement the desegregation plan this fall.

Judge Harry Phillips said a delay in the decision would be necessary because "of the size of this record and complexity of the issues involved." There was more than three hours testimony Thursday.

Officials said such cases normally take as long as eight weeks to prepare.

Arguments were presented by attorneys for the Detroit School Board, the suburban districts involved, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which brought the suit that led to Roth's busing plan, and the State of Michigan.

The court's delay in action followed the guidelines established in a law signed by President Nixon July 1, although Circuit Judge George Edwards sharply questioned a federal official about the statute.

The act orders postponement pending full appeal of all new district court desegregation orders requiring busing as a means of achieving balance in race, sex, religion or economic status.

The NAACP challenged the constitutionality of the law, an amendment to the 1972 Higher Education Act, in another action.

Shriners unveil program

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The imperial potentate of the Shrine of North America unveiled Thursday a program to raise $100 million for Shrine orthopedic and burn hospitals across the nation.

Henry B. Struby of Evansville, Ind., told newsmen that all Shriners are being urged to give $100 each or leave $100 in their wills as part of the program.

He is in New Orleans for the 38th annual convention of the Southeastern Shrine Association, which opened its three-day session Thursday.

Shriners support 19 orthopedic hospitals—the first of which was established 50 years ago in Shreveport, La.—and three burn hospitals, which together cost $25 million to keep functioning last year, Struby said.

Shrine hospitals care for patients unable to pay. Struby said need is the only criterion for admittance.

There are 15,000 Shriners here for the convention.

Gainesville Six tell of crimes they committed

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — When six Vietnam Veterans Against the War confessed to war crimes in U.S. District Court Thursday, they were putting their "Winter Soldier" on an official court record.

Over the past two years, members of the organization have, in what they call Winter Soldier Investigations, told of atrocities they witnessed or took part in as American soldiers in Indochina. Officials have largely ignored them.

Now, in an official court hearing, William J. Patterson, 23, of Hallandale, Fla., declared, "I've already confessed to the murder of 10 innocent Indochinese people."

Scott Camil, 26, of Miami said he was "guilty of war crimes against the Indochinese people."

Similar statements, made as they stood in battle garb before the court, came from Alton C. Foss, 25, of Miami; John W. Kniffin, 23, of Austin, Tex.; Peter Mahoney, 23, of New York City, and Donald P. Perdue, 23, of Hallandale, Fla.

Choosing to ignore the comments, U.S. District Judge David L. Middlebrooks recorded pleas of innocent for all six to charges of conspiring to disrupt the Republican National Convention with gunfire and explosives.

"Let the record show each of the defendants pleaded not guilty. I can't believe these people would stand up and plead guilty to the murder of innocent people, so I'm going to ignore that," Middlebrooks said.

The Gainesville Six, as they call themselves, told newsmen the charges are "phony" and the truth will be told when they go on trial Oct. 10. They face up to five years in prison if convicted.

They kept defense plans secret, but others among 200 VVAW members and supporters who marched to and from the federal building said the convention was not disrupted by any of their members.

The veterans camped overnight and expected to leave today for their homes or Tallahassee to visit four VVAW members jailed in the state capital for refusing to cooperate with the grand jury that indicted the Gainesville Six.

They were eacemakers and not troublemakers at the convention at Miami Beach this week, the Vietnam Veterans claimed. They said they didn't know of a single VVAW member arrested in street action Wednesday night.

Women's lib hits Farmer's Almanac

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — The venerable Old Farmer's Almanac has spent 156 years poking gentle fun at women with lines like, "Many women would be more spic if they had less span."

But times have changed, says editor Ray Geiger. "The belief that 'it's a man's world' quite evidently becomes less valid with every passing day and year," Geiger said.

Not that the Almanac is going to give up its one-liners aimed at women, but Geiger has written a two-page article for the 1973 edition, available Sept. 17, which is quite complimentary of woman's role in the world.

Among other things, Geiger, 62, points out that tests have shown a woman's intelligence is equal to a man's and that women control the purse strings of the United States, making 80 per cent of all consumer purchases.

Geiger said in an interview Thursday he included the article because of a letter from a Maryland woman complaining that certain jokes, bits of verse and capsules of wisdom in the 1972 Almanac were insulting to women.

Barbara Collier of Bethesda, Md., cited 36 items she said were demeaning of women, including this bit of advice: "One of the best ways for a woman to catch a man is to keep her trap shut." A man's meaning behind that, she said, is "women are always after men, and women talk too much."

She said she did not believe there was "conscious intent behind this. Most men and many women (even little girls) have the popular cliches so ingrained that they simply do not realize what they are doing."

"However," she wrote, "I find it hard to believe that many men find jokes using all the tired old stereotypes uproariously funny, and I am sure most women are not terribly amused."

Geiger said the woman's letter "got me thinking" and article was the result.

The 1973 Almanac, with a circulation of 4.5 million, still contains one-liners on women ("My wife leads a double life — hers and mine") and its usual round of helpful hints and predictions.

It says the 1972-73 winter will be milder than last year's version and there will be an early spring next year.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The wing area of a Boeing 747 measures 5,500 square feet, according to the Air Transport Association, which points out that this is larger than three three-bedroom houses or a college basketball court. In fact, there's even enough space to park one 737 on each wing.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The term "self-regulation" as it applies to the securities business is becoming archaic, it would seem, headed for use mainly as an historical reference to a free-wheeling past.

Over the past four decades the Securities and Exchange Commission has steadily encroached on the powers of brokers and exchanges to run their affairs, in the main because it was felt that self-regulation often meant self-interest.

Now Wall Street's authority to plan the future of its own industry seems about to be stripped further by Congress, where feeling is said to be strong for introducing, of all things, more competition.

The latest advisory to stock exchanges, one that could become law if the advice isn't accepted, is to eliminate altogether those fixed minimum commissions that small investors claim take too large a bite out of their profits.

In place of standard commissions, which now are set by the industry under SEC regulation on orders of less than $300,000, the fees brokers charged would depend on how badly they wanted the business — that is, competitively.

In the easier days, all commissions were fixed. If you wanted to buy a share in America, as the term goes, you generally had no choice but to pay the existing fee.

In the past, a broker performed a wonderful service so long as it was construed as a service. But as times changed and the brokerage industry didn't, brokers came to be viewed as obstructions in the way of the right to buy.

Self-regulation too often was interpreted by the industry as the right, even the obligation, to protect members. And invariably this protection seems to have come at the public's expense.

Now the House Commerce subcommittee that, among many suggestions, urges an end to fixed fees, states that "the phrase 'self-regulation' be consigned to the past," and "cooperative regulation" be substituted.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., warns that legislation will be introduced unless further steps are taken to introduce more competitive pricing, eventually ending a practice that promoted inefficiency.

"If the securities industry expends as much energy in adjusting to a competitive system as it has in debating its wisdom," the report stated, "the subcommittee is convinced that the industry will not only survive, but it will flourish."

The new term may be "cooperative regulation," but anyone in the industry can recognize that as a euphemism. It would be too blunt to say "cooperate or else."

South lost no time losing the first two tricks. Not that he could do anything about it. Dummy's king of diamonds was right in front of East's ace and queen.

East shifted to a spade and South let this ride around to dummy. South had lost two tricks and had to get away with just the loss of one trump if he wanted to make his contract.

He reflected that it would have been so much nicer if he had just raised his partner to three no-trump.

The normal trump play would be to cash dummy's ace and lead toward his queen. That would work if East held the king of trumps but South knew East pretty well.

East was one of those players who liked to bid. He appeared to be holding a five-card diamond suit. With an extra king he would surely have been in the bidding.

Therefore, South led a low trump from dummy and played his seven. West won with the 10 and led a second spade. South won and led his queen of trumps.

West could cover, duck or go fishing, but South had salvaged the game and rubber.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Through carelessness or incendiaryism, man is blamed for the largest portion of U.S. forest fires. During 1970, some 103,619 fires, or 89 per cent of those reported on protected lands, were caused by people. The World Almanac notes. Many millions of acres of federal, state and private lands are protected under the Federal-State Cooperative Forest Fire Control Program.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace returns to the executive mansion in Montgomery today to celebrate his 53rd birthday.

A party complete with cake, candles, friends and family is a good possibility, a spokesman for the partially paralyzed Wallace said.

The governor will return Sunday to Spain Rehabilitation Center here where he is undergoing physical therapy to make himself independent despite his paralysis.

On Thursday, he, Mrs. Wallace and their family toured the Birmingham Zoo, talking with other visitors and enjoying the sights, the spokesman said.

Wallace's paralysis is the result of a May 15 assassination attempt in Laurel, Md.

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Rep. Paul N. "Pete" McCloskey has been sued for divorce in San Mateo County Superior Court by his wife, Caroline.

The McCloskeys separated June 8 after 23 years of marriage but the congressman and family friends had expressed hope for a reconciliation.

Citing "irreconcilable differences," Mrs. McCloskey, 43, Thursday asked for support for herself and custody of and support for their two minor children, John, 16, and Kathleen, 13. They have two older children, Nancy, 21, and Peter, 19.

McCloskey, 44, entered Congress in 1967 after defeating former child star Shirley Temple Black. He campaigned for the 1972 Republican nomination for president on an anti-war platform but withdrew in March because of a lack of funds.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Former U.S. Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy, a longtime executive of the Procter and Gamble Co., will step down from the firm's board of directors.

McElroy blamed health in his announcement Thursday that he will not seek re-election Oct. 10. He will remain as an employee and will serve as a consultant and adviser to board chairman Howard Morgens, the firm said.

McElroy was first elected to the board in 1943 and served continuously until 1957-59 when he joined the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

McElroy returned to the firm as president in 1959 and served until 1971 when he became chairman of the executive committee of the board of directors.

4th unexplained blast recorded in Oklahoma

BRISTOW, Okla. (AP)—For the fourth time in two weeks, an unexplained explosion has occurred in this area of North-eastern Oklahoma.

Thursday night a 27,500-gallon storage tank was ruptured by a blast, spilling salt water and crude oil onto the ground.

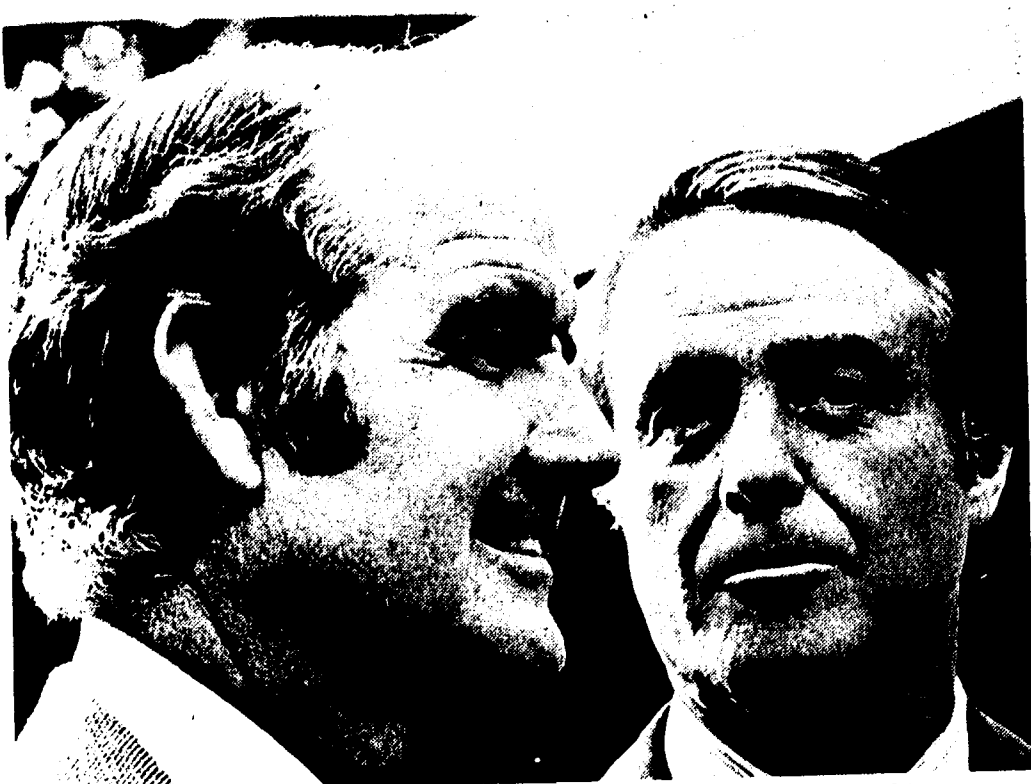

A federal agent said it appeared a bomb had been used, but he indicated further tests and a thorough search of the blast site today would be necessary.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Do we consume too many pills?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — You asked what people do for insomnia. I don't use sleeping pills. I just check up on myself and see what bad habits I have. Usually it's because I've been drinking too much tea, coffee, colas, booze—take your choice. So I either cut down or cut out and sleep. People are really dumb about their bad habits. They pretend their living habits aren't hurting them and then when their poor bodies protest at last, they stuff dope down their gullets thinking that will solve all their problems.

I think a lot of women would not have gall bladder trouble if they drank enough water. I've talked to a lot of them and everyone of them admits that they haven't drunk any water in years. They think their illness isn't their fault and that they're just unlucky. One or two of the fat old biddies blame it on the "will of God" but they'd have a fit if the old wino down the street blamed the "will of God" for his bad liver. No difference.

I think you doctors are to blame to a certain extent. Instead of giving pills why don't you tell those people who only need to reduce or to revise their bad habits to do just that? But of course, they wouldn't do it. They like to stuff their innards with poison.

Dear Reader—Your hostility is showing. I am glad to note that you are a woman and not a man or I would have thought you were a male chauvinist pig. However, your observations that people's habits contribute to their illness applies to both men and women. In other words, to some "fat old buzzards" as well as to use your phrase some "fat old biddies."

I agree that doctors should do more to encourage people to do things to prevent illness. The problem is that most of the things people need to do about their living habits to prevent illness aren't very popular. People don't like to limit the amount they eat or the amount they drink or to stop smoking and others don't like to do any exercise. Yet these are some of the most important aspects of maintaining good health and preventing illness. If you read my column very often you will know that I frequently encourage people to adopt better living habits. I'm glad to have such a militant disciple on my side.

Here's a new thought on why men are less susceptible to urinary tract infections than women. Dr. William Ferrar at Stanford University has reported that the prostatic fluid of normal men contains an antibacterial substance that completely destroys bacteria obtained from patients with urinary tract infections. This substance is being investigated further to see if it can be clearly identified and synthesized to be used in treating infections. I have always thought of the male prostate as being of relatively dubious value since it causes a lot of men a great deal of difficulty, but it may turn out that it does have a purpose even in protecting against urinary tract infections, which might explain its inconvenient location at the outlet of the bladder.

Key words stand out in China

YENAN, China (AP) — The visitor who has seen eight cities and some of the countryside of modern China finds that certain key words stand out among his impressions.

These are such words as "making do ... discussion ... contradictions ... after liberation ... pride."

The visitor can have only impressions. He cannot generalize, because nobody can make generalizations about this vast, complex and changing country after three weeks, three months or even three years.

Winston Churchill in 1939 described Soviet Russia as "a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma."

China, at the top level of leadership, is much the same. But other Chinese officials are much freer than the Russians in talking of their goals or showing you their country.

It is here that "pride" comes in. They are proud of their accomplishments since Chairman Mao launched his victory march from Yen-an. This city is being turned into a shrine to him and his teachings—against his will, they say.

There is no question of the emotion and pride of visitors to Yen-an. A young interpreter visiting here for the first time broke into tears translating a story of how Mao visited a dying soldier. The story is similar to those told about Abraham Lincoln.

Many other incidents reflect pride and sensitivity.

"Before liberation we were a people who were ridiculed, joked about, treated like dogs, colonized—it will never, never happen again," an amiable host emphasized with considerable emotion. He referred to the period from the Opium Wars of 1840 through the 1900s when foreign nations had concessions in China.

Without exception, improvements are described as coming "after liberation." These include tremendous strides in health which have wiped out many diseases; the disappearance of drug abuse, prostitutes and hunger; the improving manufacturing processes of the country; the improved lot of the peasant; the greatly improved school system; the planting of millions of trees along highways and streets; the plentiful consumer goods in department stores—high-priced in terms of work hours, by U.S. standards, but still within reach of the worker.

"After liberation" means the years since Chiang Kai-shek was driven from the mainland. A visitor may express doubts about some of the claims, because they are so sweeping, but many old China hands do not.

There is much left to do, as the Chinese are first to point out—they constantly refer to themselves as underdeveloped. They have only 25,000 miles of railroads—a fraction of what they need; a tiny airline, and only narrow dirt roads across this huge country. The transportation problem alone will take many years to solve. Factory methods are antiquated by U.S. or Japanese standards. They solve their problems by sheer manpower and hard work.

Statistics are casual. There has not been a census in a considerable time and the Chinese themselves are not sure how accurate that was. The West has placed the population at 800 million. Chinese in Peking say it is over 700 million but "closer to 750 million than 800 million."

Everyone works six days a week, 48 hours, as a minimum. There are no vacations. No leaves are given except for illness, maternity or compassionate reasons.

Because China did not reduce the salaries of high-paid professors, scientists, etc., after the cultural revolution, there are still some comparatively highly paid people—but most of China's millions from the lowest apprentice to the factory manager, newspaper editor or government official receive 100 yuan—$43—or less a month. Food and rents are cheap but luxuries high.

What about the motivation of the individual?

James Reston of the New York Times wrote that the Chinese regime is trying to create a new society of stern Calvinist and selfless men. The Chinese ideologists disagree with this, perhaps because of the religious implications more than because they look at it differently. It is fair description in a Western sense.

President Kennedy expressed a similar view when he said in his inauguration speech, "Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

When told this, our Chinese hosts looked a bit doubtful that he had said it but undoubtedly solaced themselves that nothing much was changed.

In China there can be no doubt of changes. The cultural revolution violently changed the nature of government and philosophy to what they claim is truly a classless society. There are many "contradictions" to this claim but these, they say, will be "scientifically examined and disposed of later. The classless revolution will always go on."

Whether individuals will be changed is a question for history.

But at the moment China seems motivated and moving forward.

The visitor is struck by two things. Political and manufacturing units have been broken down to the smallest possible groups, each of which is expected to be self-sufficient as it can. The aim is "to make do with what you have—don't ask higher government to solve your problems."

Each unit is governed not by a mayor or factory manager but by a revolutionary committee composed of three elements: the experts, the workers, and People's Liberation Army.

You seldom meet a "chairman" of a committee. Usually it is a "vice chairman" or "leading member." It is explained that since the cultural revolution it has not been decided in many cases who will be chairman or director. It seems top titles are avoided. Decisions are reached in "discussion" by the committee. At some point a vote is taken. Once the majority decides—the minority must go along wholeheartedly—debate is over.

The word "discussion" is used constantly. A traffic policeman pulls over a truck driver who hogs the road. The policeman will "discuss" it with the driver. Suppose the driver disagrees, refuses to obey? Well, it's a simple matter of right or wrong; the policeman will make the decision. Guess who will lose, just as in the United States.

Obviously if you are on a revolutionary committee you have power even though you may live precisely like the worker in the factory—a form of motivation. Selection for the committee is done by "discussion" of those involved.

Fess Parker: Different kind of fight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Fess Parker, embroiled in a political dispute over his plan to develop a $40 million "Frontier World" amusement park with public funds, says he has been unjustly attacked and will go ahead with the park despite opposition.

"I have every expectation of having this project funded within a month," Parker said in an interview Thursday.

He explained that he'll seek private funding rather than public money in order to avoid further wrangles.

The actor, playing the leading NBC role as Davey Crockett and Daniel Boone in long-run series, entered real estate development as a sideline 10 years ago, and his Fespar Enterprises has flourished.

But he hit a snag last week when a legislative analyst, asked to review Parker's plan for a park at Santa Clara in Northern California, blasted the project as "the ripoff of the decade."

The report, submitted to the Santa Clara City Council just before it was to vote on the matter, said Parker would profit from the park — but that the city wouldn't. It said the plan would allow profit skimming, conflicts of interest and other activities that would benefit Parker.

Parker denies the charges and says the analyst should not have jumped to conclusions from what he says were only preliminary proposals.

The mayor and city council of Santa Clara, after seeing the report, said they'd still back Parker and his park "100 per cent." But he immediately abandoned the effort to get public money.

"It became clear with the viciousness of this attack," he said, "that no matter whether or not the mayor or the city council was for this project, there was going to be difficulty every step of the way."

"What I was getting into," he added, "was a messy political situation, and I couldn't afford that. I've had a wonderful career...I don't need the city. I need their cooperation, and I have that."

The tall, husky former Texan, his hair streaked with gray, had just flown his own plane to Hollywood from his home in Santa Barbara, where he lives with his wife and two children.

Parker says he has already invested about $8 million planning his amusement park and acquiring the land 35 miles south of San Francisco. If things go according to schedule, "Frontier World" will open in early 1976 "as a salute to the bicentennial of America and of Santa Clara." The city's birthday is the same as the nation's.

"We want to celebrate America," said Parker.

He explained that the "theme park" would feature rides and displays chronicling "the frontiers of America, past, present and future." It would trace history from the days of Davey Crockett and Daniel Boone through the agrarian period, the industrial revolution, the age of space and underwater exploration and the trend toward ecological and wildlife preservation.

British soldier is killed by a sniper

BELFAST (AP) — A British soldier was killed early today, the 14th in two weeks, by a sniper who fired three shots at a patrol in North Belfast. His death brought Northern Ireland's three-year fatality toll to at least 531, more than 300 of them this year.

Another soldier was badly wounded when a gunman opened fire on a foot patrol in Londonderry. The army claimed to have hit a gunman on the roof of a building in another part of Londonderry, near the Bogside Catholic district.

The Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army came under new pressure to stop its bombing and shooting campaign. Appeals for a cease-fire came from priests, politicians, and civil rights and community leaders — and from the Marxist-oriented Official wing of the IRA. The Officials laid down their arms in favor of political action some weeks ago.

The Civil Rights Association in Newry, where nine people were killed in an explosion Tuesday, sought a meeting with Sean McStiofian, the Provos chief of staff. The association accused the Provos of "a callous disregard for public life."

Priests, who have been preaching reconciliation between Catholic and Protestant communities, deplored the rising death toll. And the Social Democratic and Labor party Ulster's pro-Catholic party, also denounced the bombings.

The IRA Officials charged the bombing campaign was "one of the greatest causes of sectarianism at the present time." The Provisionals accused the Officials of hypocrisy.

A Belfast court ordered the deporting of an American believed involved with the IRA. He was Ronald Alfred Hirsch, 34, an actor from New York who admitted his visa had expired.

Present given to Wallace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, a Democrat, had an unusual birthday present today: A copy of the Republican Party's platform given him by the GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate from Alabama.

"I termed it a birthday present when I gave it to him," Winton M. Blount said Thursday after seeing the governor at Spain Rehabilitation Center Thursday, where Wallace is receiving therapy.

"We talked about it for 30 to 45 minutes. I wasn't sure if the governor agreed with the platform. You'd have to ask him about that."

There was no comment from Wallace, who was 53 years old today.

Blount visited Wallace after telling a news conference that President Nixon asked him to give the governor a copy of the platform and to talk to him about its various planks.

The former postmaster general is running against veteran Democratic Sen. John J. Sparkman in the November election.

Migrant center: A unique rest stop

said, "we sure won't turn them away. We try to be here every minute."

As a case in point, Hensz mentioned he has only had two days off since March 1, and only spent three nights away from the center since Christmas. "Two of those nights," he said, laughing, "were for ESD meetings."

Hensz said workers pass through the center heading for as far east as New Jersey and as far west as California, but most are heading for one of six states—Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio or Wisconsin.

The center is funded through the state ESD office but additional funds for aiding migrant workers in financial trouble come from Michigan, Hensz said.

"We have a fund set up here supplied by the state of Michigan. I dispense it to families that are broke and trying to get home or that are broke and trying to get to Michigan to work. Michigan helps them get this far and then I help them the rest of the way."

The center does not charge for workers stopping to rest, but a $2 charge per trailer per night is charged for overnight visitors, Hensz said.

The interior of the trailers is stark, but orderly and clean, with eight bunk beds per trailer. A table and two benches, plus curtains are the only other furnishings.

There has been virtually no trouble at the center since it was founded, Hensz said. "We have had only three deaths here since 1967, and those were all of natural causes. The people who come through here are always nice and polite, and seem grateful for the opportunity to rest for a while."

He said that many crews who stop often police the entire camping area "just to show me how much they appreciate the hospitality."

"Arkansas probably gets the least benefit out of this center," Hensz said. "Out of 26,000 workers to pass through here this year, only 500 were headed for points within the state."

He said the majority were going to either the Osceola area to chop cotton or up in north Arkansas to pick strawberries.

Hensz takes special pride in aiding migrant workers passing through the area.

"Most of these people are of Indian ancestry," he said, "and I feel that they are more of a U.S. citizen than I am. There are many people along the route from Texas to Michigan, including some in Arkansas, that discriminate against these workers. There are service stations that won't do anything but fill their tank; there are restaurants that won't serve them; there are law officers along the route that tell them to move on. But here, they are treated fairly, they are welcome."

Two migrant workers who stopped at the center—Carlos Nerio, 23, and Julian Rivera, 18—echoed Hensz's statements.

"I've been coming through here for eight years," Nerio said, "and we are always welcome. We start from Weslaco (Tex.) in the morning and drive until we reach this place. Then we drive until we hit a state park someplace near Indianapolis."

Rivera, from Donna, Tex., was headed for Saginaw, Mich., where he will pick beans and potatoes. He was grateful for the rest stop.

"It's a long way from here to there," he said, shaking his head.

Located across the highway from the center is a newly-construction mission set up to accommodate the migrant workers.

Sponsored by the Hope Baptist Association, and headed by Rev. Bob Gross, the mission provides a place for relaxation and entertainment for the workers. Baptist churches in the area donated equipment for use there and volunteer workers man the mission nightly.

The steel building includes a game room and lounge area for the migrants.

Assisting Hensz is the center secretary, Mrs. Alma Sanders, who registers many of the workers, and who also is in charge of the teletype machine.

The teletype is connected to key cities across the United States and is used to relay information concerning the workers to their destination points.

"We can notify the farmers in any area that certain workers that they have contracted with to work their fields passed through our camp on such and such a date. This gives them at least an idea on what day to expect them," Hensz said. "We also relay the number in each party, so farmers can figure out the type of housing required, whether a day care center will be needed and so forth."

While Hensz was speaking, four large trucks rolled through the front gate, a bell sounded inside the office, and Hensz went outside to greet the newcomers.

"They have to know they are welcome," he said over his shoulder, "and it's my job that they know it."

Then with a splash of Spanish, he turned to the new arrivals, only one of perhaps 50 such groups that would pass through the center that day.
